

You Won't Believe What's Inside!

Great Lakes Science Center, located on the shores of Lake Erie next to the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, is one of America's largest interactive science museums. Hundreds of hands-on exhibits, larger-than-life OMNIMAX films, and live demonstrations make the Science Center an amusement park for the mind!

Renewable Energy Exhibits

Towering 150 feet into the air, the iconic wind turbine in front of the Science Center represents the growing importance of renewable energy in our daily lives. Coupled with a 300-foot solar array canopy representing Great Lakes Science Center's second advanced energy initiative, the two renewable energy resources provide 6% of the Science Center's daily power supply. Science Phenomena Exhibits

Experiment with more than 100 hands-on exhibits that satisfy and delight the curious scientist in each of us. Explore the science of light, optics, sound, resonance, motion, mechanics, electricity, magnetism and weather. Featured exhibits include:

BioMedTech Gallery

This newly remodeled gallery opens its doors to the latest technologies in medicine. Explore DNA testing, medical imaging (CAT scan, PET scan, MRI), prosthetics, infectious disease, and stem cell research. For more information on the BioMedTech Gallery, click here.

The Cleveland Clinic OMNIMAX Theater

Our OMNIMAX Theater features a six-story-high, domed theater with 11,600 watts of digital sound. You'll feel like you're actually in these educational adventure films shot in IMAX, the world's largest film format. Visit the OMNIMAX web page to see what's playing now!

The Steamship William G. Mather Museum

Discover what life aboard a working Great Lakes freighter was like as you tour this restored 618-foot historic flagship. Explore the 1925-built Mather and see its huge cargo holds, brass and oak pilot house, elegant guest quarters, and four-story engine room. Walk the decks and marvel at the "engineering firsts" that helped transform Northeast Ohio in to a great industrial center. Experience the golden era of steamboats on one of the best! Open seasonally. Find out more about the Mather here.
